

Handing out treats

Dad wants to give his four children treats of different shapes and colours.

- “I don’t want a red one,” little Adam shouts first.
- David says “I would like a star treat, please.”
- Bella asks “Could my treat be a square or a triangle?”
- Charlotte says “I would prefer a red treat, please.”

QUESTION

How can Dad hand out the treats so that each child is satisfied? Connect treats and children.
